

Images from the Life of Lou Henry Hoover

Below: Lou Hoover as a Stanford University student. She was the only female geology major when she entered Stanford in 1894. She married fellow geology student Herbert Hoover in 1900 and is pictured (Right) on her wedding day in 1900—the day before the Hoovers departed for China.

Right: Lou as First Lady with President Herbert Hoover. The Hoovers were fluent in Mandarin Chinese and Lou is the only First Lady who could speak an Asian language.
